First Lyceum Presents National Symphony Orc.

The first program in the current Lyceum series, on October 24 in George Washington Auditorium, will be a concert by the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., under the direction of its permanent conductor, Dr. Howard Mitchell.

Long hailed as one of the leading major symphonic organizations in the United States, the National Symphony Orchestra's growth and development within the past twenty-one years has been nothing short of phenomenal. Organized in 1931, with less than 100 sponsors, the National Symphony has grown into an energetic live-wire organization which, during its 20th season, boasted more than 7,000 subscribers to the annual sustaining fund which guarantees its existence.

The National Symphony Orchestra presents more than fifty regular events each season and provides musical culture for Americans from all over the country who are living in, or visiting, the Capital, and for representatives of foreign countries throughout the world. In addition to scheduling 26 regular concerts in Constitution Hall in Washington, the orchestra also presents special children's events each year and has many other national and international engagements.

In order that the National Symphony Orchestra may be heard by as many Americans as possible during its 21st anniversary season, an extended tour has been arranged so that it will play for music lovers throughout the Eastern and Southern States.

MWC Spanish Club Holds Initiation

The Spanish Club held its first meeting of the year on Thursday, October 18, in Framar. The new members of the club who were initiated are Mary Stuart Taylor, Evelyn Skinner, Joan Baron, Mary Ann Fox, Anita D'Argenio, Winnie Ediss, Polly Crossley, Judy Graham, Suzanne Berry, Virginia Poole, Jackie Beckwith, Janet Campbell, Leah Block, Nancy Stahel, Fifi Jordan, Loretta Burnett, Gloria Carrera, and Lily Figueroa.

The program consisted of various stunts and impersonations by the new members, after which Nancy McLeod sang a solo and then led the group in singing Spanish songs.

Frances Gionatti was elected vice-president of the club and Willie Dee Parsons was appointed food chairman.

Other officers for the year are Jackie Payne, president; Pat Bainbridge, secretary; Kathy Olson, treasurer, and Mary Landis, program chairman.

Elizabeth Nalls To Give Recital

Elizabeth Nalls, a senior and organ major at Mary Washington, is to present a recital in Monroe Hall at 4 P.M. on October 28.

Elizabeth is a member of the American Guild of Organists, a group newly organized here at the college under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jean Slater Appel of Washington, D. C.

The program will consist of selections from the "Water Music" by Handel; Prelude on "O Sacred Heart," Bach; "Chorale A Minor," Franck; "Fairest Lord Jesus," Edmundson; "Kyrie," Reger; "The Jugglers," Jepson; and "Toccata," Gigout.

Framar Celebrates Columbus Day

The annual Columbus Day celebration was held at Framar, the Spanish House, October 19, at 4 P.M. The festival was delayed a week because of the speaker's busy schedule.

Father Sobrino of the Spanish Embassy in Washington, D. C., spoke on the meaning of Columbus Day to the Spanish people. Other guests present at the festival held on the Framar lawn, were several young men from the Embassy.

Entertainment was supplied by Evelyn Skinner, a sophomore, who sang "Granada," and Betty Mason, a junior who played several violin selections.

Gloria Ives, house president of Framar, was aided in the Columbus Day celebration by the Spanish-American Club.

Seniors and Grads Given Fellowships

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, has announced the inauguration of a series of Graduate Fellowships for college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of teaching, either at the college or the high school level, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1952, for their first year of graduate study.

President Combs has named Dr. Robert Leroy Hilldrup as the liaison officer to work with the Danforth Foundation on the selection of candidates. These fellowships will be granted on the basis of need, with the amounts varying from $500.00 to $2400.00. Students without financial need are also invited to apply, and if accepted will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation conference on teaching and the other activities of the program.

CALENDAR

October 24—Lyceum program in George Washington Hall; the National Symphony.

October 29—IRC Parcel Post sale in Chandler.

Players to Present Light Up The Sky November 9 and 10

On November 9 and 10, the Mary Washington Players will present Moss Hart's comedy Light Up The Sky. Miss Martha Newell will direct the play, assisted by Julia Starkey.

This play depends rather upon portrayal of characters than upon lines for its audience appeal. It deals principally with the star, the director, author, and producers of a play destined for a run on Broadway. The scene is the hotel suite of the star; the time is opening night of the play's out-of-town preview. In the first act, the characters express their belief in the play and their assurance of its success. Due to an unfavorable audience response, the play is later believed to be a failure. The naive author is shocked and disillusioned by the reactions of the other principals to the conviction that the play is a failure; he leaves the company and returns to New York. The ensuing complications are highly entertaining, and this writer believes that attending the Players' production will mean an evening well spent.

Casting for the play is as follows: Miss Lowell, Marcia Snyder; Irene, Pat Fernald; Stella, Bettina Norris; Frances, Anne Chase; Mrs. Gallagher, Mildred Jones; general understudy, Dorothea Papachristus. The male parts are taken by Mr. Levin Houston, Mr. Mark Sumner, Mr. Jack Roach, and Mr. Harwood Bullack.

Crew heads and committee chairmen are: Joan Watson, stage manager; Jackie Reese, lights; Virginia Brooks, props; Althea Schell, scenery; Deigh Renn, business manager; Anne Loyd, sound; Bobby Burgess, programs; Mary Jean Mulligan, house manager; Betty Wise East, tickets; Burr Anderson, publicity; Barbara Hamilton, make-up; June Christian, costumes. Marie Attianese will prompt.

Spivak To Play For Xmas Formal

"You grow sweeter as the years go by" is perhaps the best way to describe the music and the trumpet sketchings of Charlie Spivak, who will play for the M. W. C. formal Christmas dance on December 8 in the Hall of Mirrors from 9-12 after giving a concert at 8:00 in the Auditorium. He is the leader of an 8-year-old band which rocketed to topflight stature so rapidly that it now ranks among the kings of the entertainment world.

For many years, before forming his own dance band, Spivak was rated as the most-sought-after free-lance trumpeter in the country. He played with radio's leading conductors on the most important programs. Before that time, Charlie was featured with such great bands as those conducted by the Dorsey Brothers, Ray Noble and Ben Pollack.

Among the many musical successes of Spivak are "Pin up Girl," which starred Betty Grable, and "Follow the Boys." Scores of box office records were created at various Spivak engagements.

Quenzel and Carder Attend V. L. A. Meetings

Dr. Carrol H. Quenzel, librarian and professor of history at Mary Washington College, and Miss Marguerite L. Carder, reference librarian, attended the meetings of the Virginia Library Association in Alexandria Thursday and Friday. Dr. Quenzel served as moderator for one of the sessions; Miss Carder is chairman of the membership committee.

RA Komic Karnival On Oct. 27

Band Runs Second In Festival Parade

Friday, October 12, the Mary Washington Band won the second prize of $150 in the Tobacco Festival Parade in Richmond. An estimated crowd of 175,000 witnessed what was one of the largest parades ever staged in Richmond. There were 10,000 participating in the bands which competed in a show at Parker Field for prizes. First prize of $200 in the professional and university class went to the Norfolk and Western Railway Band of Roanoke. William and Mary placed third.

Saturday, October 20th, the Band traveled to Norfolk to participate in the Oyster Bowl Game Parade. Of the thirty bands marching in the parade, the Mary Washington Band was chosen to play for the Drill Team competitive performance before the game.

New Howard Johnson to Open This Week

The new Howard Johnson's, located on the north side of the Jefferson Davis Highway opposite College Avenue, will be opened this week.

Students who wish to have dinner at Howard Johnson will use one of their nights in town or return to campus by 6 P.M.

Mr. James Bryan, manager of the new restaurant, is looking forward to visits from the students of Mary Washington; a traffic light will probably be placed at the highway intersection to insure safety.

Three photographs of campus

The Recreation Association invites all M. W. C. girls and their dates to the Komic Karnival to be held on campus Saturday night, October 27. Tickets will go on sale this week in the dorms.

Circus clowns, side shows, concessions and food will add to the general theme of the festivities. The gym will be decorated as a spook house with ghosts, witches and the usual Halloween attractions.

To add a touch of glamour to the occasion there will be a night club on the Hill. Soft drinks, cider and hotdogs will be served and serenades will be present to convey a romantic atmosphere.

Cake walks, floor shows, fortune tellers and various other surprises will be featured along the entertainment line. Concessions will consist of apple-bobbing, dart-throwing and bean-guessing. A nominal fee will be charged for each concession, and prizes will be awarded.

Members of the faculty will participate in several phases of the Karnival. Mr. Schnellock of the Art Department will be on hand to make character sketches of various people. Others will participate as barkers or be parties to a chorus line.

The time is set for 8:00 and the fun will continue until 11:00. R. A. urges the entire student body to attend and join in the fun.

scenes, in color, will be hung in the dining room. These framed murals are 30" by 36" and were executed by Frank Dementi of Colonial Studio in Richmond. E. Lee Trinkle Library, Brompton and a campus fountain scene were selected by the architect as subject material.

Honorable Intentions

In the last issue of the Bulletin began the first in a series of four articles on the Honor System here at Mary Washington. Look at the word HONOR—"a sense of what is right and just." Think about it; is that what it means to you?

We here at Mary Washington have a very precious heritage, handed down for years by the students who have gone before us, our Honor System. Thus far it has been a system that has worked; let us see to it that it continues to do so. In the light of what has happened within the last year—the cadet dismissals at West Point and the basketball scandals in New York, for student cheating; the resignations at William and Mary here in our own state, for academic cheating—how can we do otherwise? Every college student, from our campus here to those in California, are on trial in the eyes of public opinion. Let us prove ourselves, even in the smallest way, as "honorable"—able as those who have gone before.

S. J. K.

"Turn Back The Hands of Time"

Like the white rabbit in Alice in Wonderland, most of us scamper about the campus eternally late, with unfinished homework and untied shoelaces streaming in the wind behind us. We are all guilty of this, from the senior who hasn't done her research paper to the freshman caught with two hundred pages of parallel reading due. It isn't that we don't know how to budget our time or belong to too many clubs; neither is it the art of putting the unimportant before the really necessary. It is the unfortunate, but unforgettable, truth that assignments don't get themselves done, and that bells ring and classes begin at 8:30 whether we oversleep or not. Work that is not done on Tuesday doesn't get done on Wednesday either, but one day it's going to be an awful headache.

"Someday," we cry, harrassed by lack of sleep and stuffed with too much knowledge—too quickly gained, "we are going to get all this work over and done with before the dead-line!" When that day comes, we may be sure that Satan is wearing an overcoat and that all water fountains give pink lemonade.

Honor... For You

By CONNIE BENNETT

(Second of a series of articles on the Honor System)

Every student at Mary Washington can recite with almost mechanical perfection, "The Infringements of the Honor System are lying, stealing, cheating, and breaking one's word." There they are... the four categories into which breaches of honor have been classified. But are they actually four well-defined offenses? If we analyze them, we find that they are so closely integrated that it is difficult to draw the line between them.

Let's look at the one mentioned first... lying. If we change it to its positive value, truthfulness, we find that it is not only an important quality that could well serve as a basis for our Honor System here, but also as a foundation for a better relationship with others throughout our lives.

Most of us are basically honest and truthful in our dealings. But still, there are very few people at Mary Washington today, or in the world, who can boast of a record completely free from lying. Those "little white" ones, for example, are sometimes a necessity, aren't they?

Deliberate lying, however, is another matter. Take any phase of the Honor System, and if an infringement is there, lying is a part of that infringement. If we pledge something on our honor, but that pledge is broken, we're lying. If we cheat on a test or an exam, we're again being untrue, not only to others, but to ourselves. And if a girl is guilty of stealing, she has to build lie upon lie to keep others from knowing what she has done.

Truthfulness is our daily living is equally vital. Make it your goal to keep agreements you make with professors, classmates, or friends. Each girl should strive to keep her word, no matter how small or unimportant the situation may be. Be square-shooting in all your dealings... you'll find that it's a wonderful treatment for the conscience.

Finally, remember Emerson's sound advice that applies to our truthfulness to ourselves, "Trust thyself." How many times have you said that you'd work on that term paper, or would go to the library to study for some important assignment... but then just couldn't resist "a couple" of hands of bridge? There are so many good intentions... in reality, promises to ourselves, that are broken. They aren't serious breaches of honor, but if everyone can rely upon herself, and can show others that she is honest with them, shouldn't that quality of truthfulness mean a happier life for all concerned?

November Epaulet To Feature Date Bureau

ONE OF THE most outstanding organizations on campus is the Epaulet, which gives the students an opportunity to do creative work. The purpose of the magazine is to offer each and every one a chance to use the background of her text book knowledge to develop her individual thoughts and ideas.

THE MAIN PORTION of the magazine consists of short stories, articles, poetry and jokes. The first issue, coming out in November, will contain news of the freshman class. There will also be interviews with professors, entitled, "What Teacher Did in College." In these, the professors will reveal their college experiences, and point out the different conditions of their day.

ANOTHER ITEM OF interest will be the "blind date" card application which may be filled out for a blind date bureau. The first "blind date" week-end is planned for January. There will be an informal dance and picnic.

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE WELCOME, and for further information, contact Catherine Jones, or Ruth Norwood in Ball 322.

Editor's Note:

Any "Letters to the Editor" are welcomed, and if of interest to the school, will be printed in the "Bulletin."

Did you ever stop to think what might have happened to American History if the British soldiers at Bunker Hill had had bloodshot eyes?

Hippopotamus means river horse.

KOLLUM

The other morning, I jumped up as soon as the alarm sounded and immediately made up my bed. It was the first time in a week that it had been made before three o'clock. I quickly dressed and went to breakfast, only to have my good spirits dampened by someone's mentioning that that was laundry day.

After breakfast, I climbed slowly to my third floor room, stripped the bed, and then with resolute steps I headed for the laundry. Then my steps quickened. Surely, this time I would find my clean laundry intact. Using every muscle in my body, I gave a heave and threw my laundry bag up to the top of the pile. The moment had arrived; would my laundry be put up, or would I have to sleep on my French-knotted bedspread for the next week? Ah-ha, I found it!

Arriving back at the dorm at three o'clock, after having gone to classes all day, with my laundry bag, I started to make up my bed. With trembling fingers, I opened the bag. Then, my heart sank. Not only was one sheet gone, but my pajamas and pillowcase as well. That night as I lay curled up in my blue jeans and bedspread, I was so angry that I could have crushed a grape.

I was not to be fooled, however. The next morning, I stomped over to the laundry and demanded (in sugary tones) the return of the missing articles, only to be told that if they were not in my bag it was because they hadn't been marked. Since this was only the second week of school, I hardly thought that the indelible ink markings had worn off already, and besides, my hands were still stained with the ink. With this proof, I was taken to the woman in charge who told me that nothing could be done about the situation until after the week end. I was to return Monday.

Out of the kindness of my heart and due to the fact that I didn't mind blue jeans and French knots (much), I waited until Tuesday to make my next visit. I thought that it would be easier to find the things then as there is no incoming laundry on that day.

Oh, well, I won a small victory anyway—I did find my pillowcase.

I haunted the laundry for days. Soon, I had to wear a disguise, because the lady over there would dive under the ironer every time she saw me approach.

Another victory came the following laundry day—my sheet, ripped through the middle, was returned. (I suspected that the laundry had let it be a member of the Ku Klux Klan, who had wanted a sheet with a split so he could have an opening through which to put his head.)

As yet, my pajamas are still missing but don't worry about me. I now have a system: one week I wear the top of the remaining pair with a pair of shorts (not so scratchy as jeans) and the next week, I wear the pants with a Tee-shirt. Ingenious, no?

Here I've rambled on and on about losing minor articles; I don't know why I let little things upset me like this. But I know what I'll do the next time my laundry gets lost; I'll call up that detective who writes "The Mystery of the Missing Mouse, or Who Copped the Cap?" and put the whole case in her hands.

MW Newman Club Sponsors Dance

The Newman Club will sponsor a Halloween party and dance for all Catholic girls on Sunday, October 28, from 3 until 10 p.m. The party will be held in St. Mary's Parish Hall.

Boys from the Universities of Virginia, Richmond, and Georgetown, plus Marines from Quantico, have been invited. A buffet supper will be served at 5 p.m.

The hall will be decorated in the traditional Halloween colors of orange and black.

IRC Column 'Round The World

By PEGGY ANN SLOAN

Women are becoming more and more important in world affairs. One example of this fact is England's Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne. On October 31, Princess Elizabeth and her consort, Prince Philip Mountbatten, will visit Washington, D. C. on a quick side trip from their Canadian tour.

Because of the Princess's prominence in the news at this time, the following question has been asked of some of the students and faculty members.

"Do you think that Princess Elizabeth is well prepared to assume the title of Queen of England?"

Dr. Darter believes that requirements for leadership are a broad understanding and education in world affairs. He feels that Princess Elizabeth lacks the necessary training and experience in these political responsibilities to assume the title of Queen.

From her reading of newspaper and magazine articles, Margo Calvert has gained the impression that Princess Elizabeth knows the British people. She cited the fact that Elizabeth served in the English Women's Army Corps during the last war.

Lois Glover brought out the thought that Princess Elizabeth would never be able to compare with Queen Victoria in ruling the British people. She thinks that Elizabeth is much too involved in her family life to be a good ruler.

Dr. Lindsey is of the opinion that Princess Elizabeth seems to possess qualities that are necessary for a good ruler. He believes she has dignity, poise, and good judgment. He brought out the fact that Elizabeth has advisers who will keep her up to date on world affairs. "The King of England is a traditional symbol and must have the respect of the people."

Two senior history majors, Betty Weatherford and Anna Winsbro, believe that Princess Elizabeth is capable of accepting the responsibilities of Queen. They think she has been both socially and politically trained from childhood with the former objective in mind. The fact was also mentioned that since King George VI's illness, Princess Elizabeth has been attending certain state functions and making speeches for her father. These girls seem to think that Elizabeth has stability, conservatism and traditionalism, which are, in their opinion, the typical qualities prized by the British.

Watch for your IRC column next week when another internationally known woman will be discussed.

Audie Murphy, the most decorated hero of World War 2, has signed a new five year movie contract, before going to Texas for two weeks National Guard duty. Audie tops the fan mail list at his studio.

Mystery of the Missing Mouse or Who Copped the Cap

CHAPTER V

(Synopsis: After finding Elmira C. Levenworth's mouse cap by Custis, I knew she was still on campus. So I, Shirley Locke Holmes, decided to track her down.)

I spent much time in deliberation. Finally I decided to call in help on the case. I marched to Virginia Hall determinedly. Mrs. Robbins told me to be quiet because it was study hour, so I left my hockey shoes in her office and went straight to Neil Amos. I had to knock Peggy Fletcher down but it was no time for manners.

"Look here, Neil," I snapped. "Did you steal a freshman for publicity for the Sophomore Benefit?"

I could tell by her expression that she hadn't, but she was thinking about it. Anne Levey came to the door and asked me to come in. I really couldn't stay but she was on Honor Council. Well, I could spare a few minutes. While I told them the story, I searched fruitlessly for an ash tray—there wasn't one. I finally dropped my ashes into my sock, stubbed out the cigarette on Toula (I don't know how she got there) and left. On my way out, I picked up my hockey shoes, saluted and asked to see Miss Stevenson. I told her the whole story and she agreed that Elmira must be on campus; however, she would not give me permission to cut all classes until I found her.

"Make it part of your extra-curricular activities, Shirley," she said, "and not your major."

Not having the heart to tell her I was majoring in extra-curricular activities and only by super-human effort and heroic sacrifice had I managed to include a few classes, I eased out of the office and headed morosely home. I passed through Ball and found all the Seniors parading around in their caps and gowns. This gave me a complex so I started home to my roommate and her engagement ring. I could buy one of those at the dime store (ring, not roommate. Mine is priceless!) but where would I get a cap and gown? Or the five dollars to rent one?

Then, with a silent swear for Elmira C. Levenworth who had the inconsideration to disappear and make me look for her, I wandered to the "C" Shoppe for some coffee and companionship. Who knows? Maybe I could even find one to pay for the coffee!

In the Day's Grind Standing In Line

By Anne Loyd

There is absolutely nothing that will equal standing in line for anything on this campus. It's worse than a fad, it's a habit. Stand still for a minute and you'll have a line form behind you. Not just a line but rather a messy gathering and, no matter where you started, both ends get served first and you stand in the middle. (Or I do. Maybe you're one of the ones that gets something.)

For example: you have a dime in your hot little hand and you would like to buy a pack of note-book paper at the "C" Shoppe and have to hurry to a class upstairs. You worm your way past the candy bars and decide that you cannot buy a Hershey Bar and a half pack of note-book paper. Then you heroically pass up chicklets, lifesavers, those little round things you put on note-book paper, gummed stickers to put on letters, and a mournful hound dog with M.W.C. embroidered on his forehead. By this time, all the people who used to be in front of you are in class and those behind you are in front of you by some process of evolution that they know and you don't. Maybe they walk on the counter. But there are no heel marks on the Mars bars. It's all very confusing; the girl in front of you buys a mammoth book for two dollars and a five page pamphlet for six-fifty. You get all ready to say "Note-book paper" but the girl behind you edges in with a request to see the sweat shirts. This, of course, has priority over even three-ring note-book paper. So you help her decide on the sweat shirt. Finally she buys a tube of tooth paste and the line moves on. You feel ignored. Then, all of a sudden, you are at the cash register and you still haven't bought anything. Murmuring your apologies, you head back to the end of the line. Maybe this time you'll make it. And sure enough, three hours and three cuts later, you end up with two Hershey bars.

There are times when one would like to hang the whole human race, and finish the farce.—Twain.

Dear Mom . . .

Dear Mom,

Oh, what a week this has been! I had two tests last Thursday but managed to pass them both—of course, I have three more assigned for this week; why all the profs insist on giving their tests at the same time, I'll never know.

Oh, I almost forgot to tell you—I finally got the coffee-pot fixed and I asked the man in the repair shop to send the bill (just $10.50) to you. That's okay, isn't it? We still are without our coffee, however, because a fuse or something blew out last night. We hooked up too much stuff at once, I suppose. They really ought to put more outlets in each room—we had the popcorn popper, sandwich grill, my faithful coffee-pot, and Anne's hair dryer (I think it was the hair dryer that did it) all going at once when the fuse blew. (If that is what happened!)

I've got to run so that I can get this to the P. O. before class—I'm always late to class when I stop by the post office—I guess the main reason is that I can never remember my combination.

Love,
Dotter

The small boy had fallen into the stream but had been rescued.

"How did you come to fall in?" asked a bystander.

"I didn't come to fall in," the boy exclaimed, "I came to fish."

Cigarette companies are enjoying their most profitable year in history. More people are smoking more cigarettes now than ever before, which only goes to prove that despite the griping, people still have money to burn.

The Montana Indians loved working as extras in a new western, but the assistant director assigned to securing their social security cards for them nearly lost his mind making out cards to Fred Takes a Horse, Gilbert Bird in Ground, Chester Bad Boy and Sarah Don't Mix.

They want Red Skelton to come back to the London Palladium for Christmas week. It will be the first time in history that a star has been booked there twice in 6 months.

Fresh out of Bivalve, N. J., he arrived on the campus all bug-eyed and his big mouth hanging open. He was immediately sucked into a "shell game" and found himself making all the quick-trick cigarette tests.

But his native instinct told him that such an important item as cigarette mildness couldn't be tossed off lightly. Millions of smokers everywhere have discovered, too, that there's but one true test of mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke...on a pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Fads 'N Fashions

By ELIZABETH HESS

Put on your comfortable loafers and journey into town, because I've found some brand-new fashions you just can't afford to miss! Carley's has the loveliest collections of skirts you have ever seen—both for the classroom and for your most important dates. I know you will all love their permanently pleated nylon skirts. You don't even have to clean or press them; just wash, and in a matter of minutes they're back in shape again. They cost only $10.95 and come in many of the new autumn colors.

Carley's also have blouses just to match them! For the black skirt there is a striking blouse of red, black, and white. The cuffs on the short sleeves and the collar are black, the yoke and sleeves are white, and the rest of the blouse has two side horizontal stripes of red and black. Not only do they make darling separates, but when you wear them together they look exactly like a dress!

One of the most exciting new fashions to come out this year is the hip-hugging flared skirt. Carley's has a party-going version of it in a very new and different fabric called Ribalure faille. It has an eight-gore skirt and five shiny black buttons for accent on each hip and center front. If you want to be the center of attention, buy one in the dashing color called Matador Red! It also comes in Desert Sand, Gold, and Black.

If you are in a turmoil over what to wear to the coming football game, I have found just the thing for you. It is a skirt of the softest oxford brown flannel with unusual rounded pockets that are caught with a single button. Just perfect for your best cashmere sweater or sport-jacket. Carley's has skirts in every kind of material and for all occasions. Velvet, wool, and gabardine are distinctively styled to fit your every need.

I went across the street to Land's Jewel Box and discovered some lovely accessories for your winter outfits. They have a set of light yellow jewelry that is just right for your best basic dress. The necklace is flower-shaped, delicately edged in gold, with tiny rhinestones in the center. Each earring is a single flower. Choker and bracelet also come in this design.

Everyone should own a silver snake-chain set because it can be worn with so many of one's clothes. The Jewel Box has a really lovely set; the necklace is rather short and the bracelet is made of two chains. (They also have it in gold with a decorative attachment in front for dressy occasions.)

Land's is just the store in which to do your gift-shopping! If you are frantically wondering what to buy for your man in the service, take a look at their identification bracelets. The sterling silver bracelet with the thick, heavy chain, priced at $12.95, is highly recommended. Have a sentimental inscription engraved on the back and he will treasure it for life! (They also come with a thinner chain for $6.95, and in a dainty version for $3.95.)

Be sure to see Land's large selection of bill-folds. The stitchless calfskin ones are especially beau-

Mike Club
Station WMWC

By ANNE BARTON

I know you all join the Mike Club in welcoming back Mrs. Mildred Sollenberger after her year's study in New York, where she did further work in world-wide communication. It is really wonderful to have you back again, Mrs. Sollenberger.

Now for a run down on a few of the graduates who have worked with us. Anne McClerkkin, '51, who was our station manager last year, is in Washington, D. C., working for the Rand Corporation, Scientific Research Consultants. In Richmond, we find ChiChi Thompson, '51, Frances Glass, '51, and Nat Wilton, '50, working at WRVA. ChiChi is the Head of Continuity, with Fran as her assistant. Nat is in the business office as assistant to the business manager. We're proud of all our graduates.

Now let us look at this year's staff. Julie Starkey is Station Manager; Director of Programming, Jeanne Therrell; Chief Engineer, Barbara Pritchard; Directors of Talent, Artists' Bureau, Bettanne Norris; Announcing and Production, Bobbie Burgess; Director of Continuity, Jo Sidney Riddle; Record Librarian, Barbara Baylor; Assistant Record Librarian, Suzanne Davis; Director of Recording, Margene Mulligan; Publicity Director, Anne Barton; Assistant Publicity Director, Nancy Horan; Secretary, Doris Steele.

"Off the Record"

"Calla Calla Bella Bella"—Perry Como—Listen to the words on this one.

"The World is Mine Tonight"—Les Baxter—Good lyrics to a smooth melody.

"Doors that Lead to You"—Mindy Carson—Brand new. A beautiful piece of music by a gal with a beautiful voice.

"Solitaire"—Tony Bennett—Another hit!

Book of The Month
'Each Bright River'

The story of the building and settling of the Oregon Territory, and of a stubborn man and an even more stubborn woman who loved each other deeply yet refused to recognize their love until too late. Read this book for it is more than a story of love. It is the story of the courage and greatness of a people who made this nation what it is today.

First Meeting
Held By IRC

On September 25, a short organization meeting was held by the International Relations Club. The officers were introduced and a tentative program was outlined. The committee chairmen who were elected are as follows: publicity, Billie James; finance, Meryle Menikoff; program, Jean Crews; to be assisted by Pat Craven; miscellaneous, Kitty Love Earnshaw; entertainment, Jean Verling; book reviews, Claudia Wells and Peggy Sloane; refreshments, Virginia Walsh.

At the first meeting of the year it was decided that on United Nation's Day a program would be given in chapel.

A very good cook book is now on sale which contains many recipes of the various nations. You may purchase your copy before November 10 in Ball 209.

At this meeting a panel discussion on the subject of McCarthyism was led by B. J. Mushlett and Helen Hodges, affirmative, and Dorothy Griffith and Anne Funk, negative.

Virginia Home
Ec. Group To Meet At MWC

The Northern District of the Virginia Home Economics Association will hold a meeting at Mary Washington College October 27. Mary Washington Seniors majoring in home economics are invited as guests to the conference.

After a business meeting in the Board Room, the association will be served lunch in the Tapestry Room in Seabeck Hall.

A talk on "Defense against Atomic Warfare" will be made. The name of the speaker has not been announced as yet.

Pi Nu Chi Entertains
Frosh Nursing Majors

Pi Nu Chi, the nursing club, had a coke party not long ago to which many freshmen, nursing majors, were invited. The old members told of their many experiences at Charlottesville at the University Hospital there. The party was greatly enjoyed by all, due mainly to the contributions of Dr. Castle and Miss Schultz, sponsors of Pi Nu Chi.

Later on in the evening, the girls made plans to take several tours of different hospitals and to give a reception for the nursing staff of the University Hospital.

Murphy: "What's that in your pocket?"

Mike: "Shh. It's dynamite caps. I'm waiting for Pat. Every time he comes by me he slaps me on the chest and breaks me pipe. Next time he does it, he'll blow his hand off."

CAMPUS CANDIDS

Joan Piedmont and Fran Pruden had a grand time in Chase City this past week-end. They went dancing with Bill White and Bates Pauley.

Ann Mawhinney, Judy Garrett, and Nancy Hewett went to the Washington and Lee game in Lexington. They had dates at the Delta Tau Delta House.

Sandra Walton went to the dance with Charles Eggar Saturday night. The first informal dance, that is.

Sally Cecil is busy planning for a big week-end at Annapolis.

From all reports, everyone had a marvelous time at the Y dance. Bill Edmundson came up to see Ann Lovelock Sunday.

Cil Valentine was over at Quantico this week-end.

"Jo-Jo" was up at the Washington and Lee week-end of October 13-14 with a very cute Beta.

Helen Coddington went to North Carolina State this past week-end for the home-coming game.

Brook Woods and Bobbie Davis came back a-visitin'.

Ruth Norwood went up to Schenectady, New York this past week-end to see Jerry.

Carolyn Fletcher and Nancy Needham had a wonderful time at Annapolis the week-end of October 13-14.

Nell Ramsey is mighty proud of her latest acquisition—a Lambda Chi pin from Morrison Smithers.

Anna Nash Kay had a very attractive visitor from Annapolis Saturday night, and to round out the week-end in style, she had another visitor Sunday from U. Va.

Bobbie Mench finally got some dividends from those trips to the post-office—Bud's coming home from Korea any day now!

Bobbie Burgess is finally going to see Jim Wassell!

Nancy Corbett and Mary Ann Moore dated boys from U. Va. for the V. P. I. game.

Sally Shipman went to the Washington and Lee game with a U. Va. boy on October 13.

From all reports, Rhoda Browning had a marvelous time when she went home last week-end. (Don't we all!)

Looks as if Butch Spangler rates with the Navy these days.

Martha Lyle and Polly Jordan are being true to Jimmy and Buddy.

We hear the Gary's are due here October 27th. Know Mary Ann and Frankie will enjoy that week-end.

A very tall and handsome Marine has been haunting Cornell in search of a certain Sally.

Felicia Sipolski is going to U. Va. homecoming with Tommy Bohan. Margie Lowther, Anne Williams and Betty are also going to be squired to Homecoming.

Going home for the week-end are Doris Kirby, Pat Seitz, and Betty Land.

Polly Stoddard and Joan Membert are going to the Costume Ball at Annapolis. Midshipman Jim Youse and Don Stolle are to be their dates.

Beverly Deane and Anita Cooley are also going to the Costume Ball at Annapolis with Art and Lin.

This Week At The Movies

Tuesday only

"Home Town Story" with Jeffrey Lynn and Marjorie Reynolds.

Wednesday and Thursday

"On the Riviera," the sparkling musical starring Danny Kaye, with Gene Tierney and Corinne Calvert.

Friday and Saturday

"The Strip," a gangland picture with Mickey Rooney as the lead.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday

"Go for Broke," the stirring story of the Neisei soldiers of World War II, starring Van Johnson.

"Mother, Poppa wouldn't murder anybody, would he?"

What makes you ask that?"

"Well, I just heard him down in the cellar saying, 'Let's kill the other two, George.'"

On any of these beautiful fall afternoons, if one went out to the stables one might see a scene something like this. Up at the big ring, High Pockets, Double Scotch, Lohenline, and some of the other horses, are being put through their paces. The fence "jocks" are sitting around the edge of the ring discussing the relative merits of the horses and are wondering if Virginia Boy will go to Hileah this year. Suddenly a cloud of dust comes puffing down the road. From within it a voice is heard singing "A Buffalo's Brother." As dust starts to settle, a truck becomes discernable from within the cloud. On the truck are about ten girls who say that they intend to move jumps from one ring to another. They soon load the jumps on the trucks and off they go down the road again. The truck takes a sort of leap in the air. Someone exclaims "that tree was in the way anyhow." The truck disappears around a bend in the road and the strains of "On Top of Old Smoky" come drifting back. After recovering from the shock of the truck episode, one might go up to the show ring to watch some of the horses being jumped over the out-

Physical Therapy New Major & Club

On Wednesday, October 17, the first meeting of the Physical Therapy Majors' Club was held in the Correctives Room in Monroe Basement. The seven girls who form the club, which is sponsored by Miss Anna Scott Hoye, are as follows: Suzanne Bedell and JoAnn Stein, Westfield, New Jersey; Margaret McRoberts and Ann Grubbs, Norfolk, Virginia; Mary Neate, Arlington, Virginia; Barbara McLaughlin, Greenfield, Massachusetts; and Gwen Forsyth, Abington, Pennsylvania.

The physical therapy major, as well as the club, is brand-new at MWC this year. Majors spend the first three years here at Mary Washington, and their fourth year at the Baruch Center of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

An open meeting for anyone interested in physical therapy will be held on the first Wednesday of each month, the next meeting being on November 7.

Swimming Officiating To Begin October 29

A class in swimming officiating will start October 29 at 8:00 in the pool. The classes will be held for one hour each Monday night for eight weeks, and will be taught by Miss Josephine Hubbell, chairman of the Fredericksburg Board of Officials.

side course. There one gets some glimpses of real horsemanship. After watching the jumping for awhile, one goes to look at Punkle Crise's horse, Sharpe, who has just come up from Florida. All too soon Mr. Walther calls "All aboard" and it is time to get into the station wagon to come back to the campus.

(Note: The results of the Fall Horse Show will appear in next week's "Saddle Soap".)

R. A. Sports Spots

For all those interested in using the Cabin, there are two requirements. You must see Peggy Fletcher (Virginia 232) who is chairman of the Cabin Committee, and you must also sign the Cabin reservation list which is in Monroe basement. To use the Cabin, you must fulfill both these requirements. Any organization is welcome in the Cabin, as long as a faculty sponsor and a Cabin committee member are present.

The tennis tournament is well under way. The best of luck to all the sportsmen entered, and of course may the best man (?) win! If you signed up for the tournament, please be sure and check to see with whom you play, and record the set score by the winner's name as soon as possible after it is played.

Be sure and support your team in the last game of the Devil-Goat Hockey Tournament!

The indoor swimming pool is open for recreational swimming every day. The hours are Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays from 4:00 to 5:00; Tuesdays, Thursdays, from 4:45 to 5:45; Saturdays and Sundays from 3:30 to 5:00; and Saturday nights from 7:30 to 9:00. A qualified life guard is on duty each day. If there is not one there, see Kathy Orem, in Ball 320. Everyone is invited to these swims, whether she is enrolled in a swimming class or not.

Don't forget to sign up to play volleyball. Lists are available in Monroe basement, Chandler basement, and in all the dorms. Please sign up on or before October 25.

The list is now in Monroe basement for all those interested in going to Richmond on Monday, November 5, to see the game between the Virginia Hockey Team and the touring Scottish Team. The trip will cost $1.35, including transportation and ticket.

MWC Alumna Heads Army Nurse Corps

On October 1, Colonel Ruby F. Bryant, of Emmerton, Virginia, was sworn in as chief of the Army Nurse Corps, to succeed Colonel Mary G. Phillips. An alumna of Mary Washington College, she was graduated in 1934 from the Army School of Nursing, Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington.

Colonel Bryant went to the Philippines in 1937 for a three-year tour of duty, and after her return to the United States, she served in the station hospital at Fort Benning, Georgia; at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland; at Headquarters Third Command, Baltimore; and at Fourth Service Command, Atlanta, Ga.

After the war, Colonel Bryant was made Director of Nurses in the Far East Command, at Tokyo.

National Teacher Examinations To Be Held On Feb. 16, 1952

(Princeton, N. J., October 17.) The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 16, 1952.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two of nine Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations, and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

Application forms, and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions, may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications,

MWC Girls Attend VEA District Meet

On Friday, October 12, three Mary Washington girls from the Secondary Educational class accompanied Dean Alvey to the District A meeting of the Virginia Education Association held at Tappahannock High School, Tappahannock. They were Peggy Chapman, Beverly Harrell and Martha Bass.

During the morning session there was music by the Botetourt High School Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Ale, and an address by Dr. I-Kua Chou, assistant professor of government at the College of William and Mary, on "The Prospects of Peace in Asia."

In the afternoon there were addresses by Mr. H. H. Walker, president of the Virginia Education Association, and Mr. Robert F. Williams, editor of the Virginia Journal of Education.
